

Introducing Pocketbook Coach for Moms

Time to fess up, ladies! Have you ever been guilty of cheering from the stands under the pretense that you knew what was going on? I did too, even being married to the coach, embarrassing, huh?

Huddle up with the Pocket Book Coach to find everything you need not only to endure football, but to enjoy your time around the gridiron! As a once clueless coach's wife, mother of three boys, and educator, I understand what it takes for women to truly get football. And, ladies, your getting-it is more important to your son than you might think. The football tutorial, POCKETBOOK COACH FOR MOMS: FOOTBALL, is the link connecting you with your sons!

Explore the site to make your game plan. If you do not already have the book, buy it today! There is no better way to prepare for football than off-season training for your son and for you! Prepare to defend yourself against that inevitable eye rolling you get when trying to rehash the game with the guys. Grab your POCKETBOOK COACH FOR MOMS: FOOTBALL and learn to talk football with confidence before the first game!
